my photo

Scope: introduce briefly my background and personality which will make me unique from the other counterparts. Pitch myself to collaborators.

Technical Skills - on first section to complement hero title on the hero image.
Scope: Quickly satisfy the criteria being looked quickly at by recruiters or HR personnel. Once attention has been caught, they can go through the rest of the resume below.

Projects - list coursework during the diploma and side projects.

Education - list provide links to the insitutes that provide the degree to make known that the qualifications stated do come from qualified providers. Keep this section brief and concise.
Scope: a requirement for recruiters to at least browse through before making contact. Provide a timeline to demonstrate to recruiters that I have been staying active and productive with my time. Include links that will bring them into my previous companies Strategy: make up for the lack of software skills with adding current course and perhaps adding some notes on my excitement for life-long learning.

Contact us form - should include salutation, last name, first name, email, phone number: optional, message/comments and submit button!
Scope: to receive contact from a recruiter or a project manager in the event of a potential meetup/interview.
Strategy: also to add a segment for feedback to demonstrate that I am open to criticism and constructive feedback - positive attitude.

ICONS - incl linkedin, github and a downloadable word version of resume

OVERALL STRATEGY :

BIZprioritised : allow recruiters looking for software developers to quickly determine my background and skillset. Easy for them to go through work history and projects. Give them multiple venues to make contact (email in about, icons for linkedin, github, downloadable resme, contact form. Create an online presence and eventually a personality where I can make a difference in my own way.
USERS prioritized: Talent Acquisition Staff, well-established philanthropists, government bodies, generic readers, competitors in the field
